

Subject Information

History Early Years

In the Early Years Foundation Stage children begin to learn that as they grow up, they are increasingly able to do more things for themselves independently. This emerging knowledge and understanding can be used to explore crucial early historical skills.

Many children within the EYFS will have younger and/or older siblings who they will see being involved in activities at a different level. This can be used to extend the children's learning and understanding of themselves and the world around them. By the time children are in Reception they will be increasingly aware of the changes in routines during different times of the day and seasons of the year. These changes in times have an impact on what activities they can do (sleep, eat, play, home, holidays etc.) as well as what they wear and what they celebrate.

In reception, then children will learn:

- To explore patterns and routines.
- To celebrate occasions throughout the year.
- To learn through experiences the concept of time.
- To learn through experiences the concept of change.